SURVEY SEEKING INPUT ON POTENTIAL TRANSPORTATION SOLUTIONS IN FORSYTH COUNTY EXTENDED

Survey available at forsythtransportationplan.com

Forsyth County, Georgia – To allow more time for more public feedback, an online survey regarding potential transportation solutions and draft projects in Forsyth County has been extended through Sunday, December 31. The survey is a part of the county’s comprehensive transportation plan, a guiding document updated every five years that outlines the long-range vision for transportation in the county.

“Community involvement is key in ensuring the plan update truly captures the spirit and desire of the various voices that represent Forsyth County,” said Director of Engineering John Cunard. “With the busyness of the holiday season, we want to make sure the people who live, work and play throughout the county have an adequate amount of time to provide their thoughts on the transportation plan.”

The community is encouraged to visit the project website – forsythtransportationplan.com – to participate in the online survey, now open for participation through the remainder of the year.

In addition to the online survey, the county hosted open house sessions in various locations throughout the months of November and December displaying transportation project drafts and potential solutions.

Public input, combined with the technical expertise of Forsyth County staff and the consultant team, will result in a list of transportation projects – as well as policy recommendations – for consideration and adoption by the Forsyth County Board of Commissioners.
